

Corpus Linguistics and Foreign Language Teaching

主讲人：Professor Yukio Tono

时 间：2019年11月5日（周二）9:30

地 点：北校区MBA中心103室（丝纺讲堂）

内容简介：

The application of corpus linguistics (CL) to foreign language teaching (FLT) is a very promising field of research. In this talk, based on Geoffrey Leech's three classifications of CL applications in FLT, namely, "Teaching about", "Teaching to exploit", "Exploiting to teach", I will describe my previous experience of pedagogical applications of corpora to teaching languages, including materials design (dictionaries, vocabulary & phrase exercise books, TV and radio English conversation programs), research into language teaching/assessment framework (CEFR-J project), and extending the research to multiple language teaching (CEFR-J x 28 project at my university).

主讲人简介：

Yukio Tono is a professor in corpus linguistics at Tokyo University of Foreign Studies (TUFS), Japan. He also serves as Director of the World Language Center at TUFS. He received his Ph.D. in corpus linguistics at Lancaster University. His research interest includes quantitative approaches to linguistics, second language vocabulary acquisition, corpus applications in foreign language syllabus and materials design, and CEFR-based language teaching resource development. He is past-president of Asian Association for Lexicography (ASIALEX, 2011-2013), President of Japan Association for English Corpus Studies (JAECS, 2016-present), a founder of the journal LEXICOGRAPHY (Springer), and an editorial board member of several international journals (International Journal of Lexicography, Corpora, English Teaching & Learning) and book series (Studies in Corpus Linguistics by John Benjamins). He is the author of several books published internationally, including Corpus-Based Language Studies (Routledge, 2006, with Tony McEnery and Richard Xiao), Developmental and Crosslinguistic Perspectives in Learner Corpus Research (John Benjamins, 2012, co-edited with Yuji Kawaguchi and Makoto Minegishi) and Frequency Dictionary of Japanese (Routledge, 2013, with Makoto Yamazaki and Kikuo Maekawa).
